

MVD Internal Army officer full dress belt, dated 1985.

In yellow artificial silk, woven to simulate gold brocade. The colored threads making a wide stripe along the middle of the belt make it distinctly different from the full-dress belts used by the Soviet Army. The brass buckle is the same as on the Army or Air Force belt, showing a Soviet star with the hammer and sickle emblem. The liner has a stamped maker mark, showing the size 3 (largest produced) and a 1986 date of manufacture. Will fit up to a 45" waist when fully extended to the maximum allowed by its grommets, this belt is easily adjustable to a smaller size.

In excellent condition. The fabric is perfectly clean on both sides and completely free of snags, tears, or significant wear of any kind. The brass buckle is bright, without tarnish.

This type of belt is much more scarce than the dress belts for Soviet army / air force officers - especially in XXL size.
