

Bust of Stalin, in pewter, circa late 1930s - mid-50s.

Stands approx. 6" tall, 5.5" wide at the shoulders, the base is 4" x 2.25". Stalin is depicted in his everyday civilian tunic, not in a military uniform. Such "civilian versions" of Stalin became rather rare once WW2 began.

In good to very good condition. The surface of the metal is free of scratches, scuffs, dents or any other damage. Patina is considerable but attractive, adding an air of age and authenticity.

This bust will look great on a shelf with smaller Stalin-era Soviet collectibles.

Please note that the penny in our photo is for size reference.
