

Military Photo ID of Reserve Senior Lieutenant Pavel Dobrushin (Павел Михайлович Добрушин), Rifle Company Commander with 63rd Army during the Battle of Stalingrad, issued 30 December 1968.

Measures 4" x 3", in hard cover bound in green oilcloth. The front cover features the State Emblem of the USSR with "Ministry of Defense" above it and "Military ID of a Reserve Officer of the Armed Forces of the USSR" below.

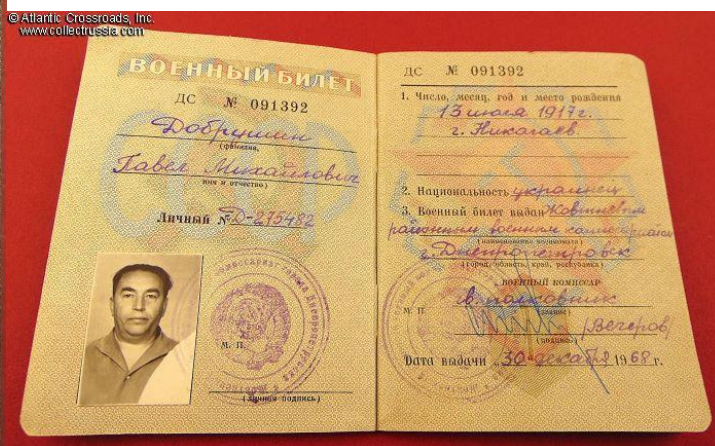

In excellent, superb condition. The front cover is slightly warped by the glue holding the ID photo. The photo is pristine, and so are all the internal pages. All the printed text, handwritten entries, signatures and seals are crisp, clear and perfectly legible.

The records show that Sr. Lt. Dobrushin was initially conscripted into Red Army in 1937, finished his service as squad commander, and was discharged to reserve in 1940. In August 1941 he was mobilized to active duty, served as company commander, was wounded, returned to active duty, fought with the 63rd Army, Southwestern Front, in the Battle of Stalingrad, was discharged to reserve in 1944, finished the Vystrel officer courses, and served for another year in NKVD troops. His third and last discharge to reserve was issued by NKVD in November 1945.

Please note that the penny in our photo is for size reference.
