

Wall Plaque With Bas-Relief of Lenin & Stalin, circa late 1940s - early 1950s.

In solid bronze measuring 9 1/2" across and weighing 2 1/4 lbs. The plaque is unmarked but was certainly made by a sculptor of talent and some renown because portraying the visages of Lenin or Stalin required a special license which was not awarded lightly. The level of precision of sculpted detail of the artwork is clearly higher than what is usually seen in similar bas-reliefs. The reverse has a riveted brass plate for mounting the plaque on a wall or some other backing.

In excellent condition. There is just a couple of tiny spots of verdigris, no scuffs or scratches to the high points of the bas-reliefs. Very mild attractive patina in the recessed areas accents the 3D depth of the artwork and adds to the air of authenticity and age of the item.

Please note that the medal in our photo is for size reference.
