

East Germany, Activist of the Seven-Year Plan, 1963.

In aluminum, paints, and clear resin. The medallion measures 41 mm in height (incl. eyelet), 32 mm in width. The brass band across the suspension shows the year of issue. The raised inscription on the reverse reads "to live in a socialist way requires working in a socialist way." The original box of issue is in cardboard with the lid laminated in leatherette-textured paper, measures approx. 78x47x13 mm.

In excellent condition: just mild tarnish to the metal of the suspension. The pin attachment is fully functional. Its wire is slightly bent out of shape but none of it is broken off and can be easily bent back, if desired. The issue box is structurally sound, the laminate shows mild scuffing, not too obvious or detractive.
